Breakfasts

Crepe Pancakes

Serves 1

15 minutes

Source: [48]

1 egg
1 c milk
 $\frac{1}{2}$ c flour

1. Mix ingredients together.
2. Fry at 400 F.

Blueberry Muffins

Makes 16 muffins

30 minutes

Source: [6]

360 g	plain flour
370 g	caster sugar
1 1/2 tsp	baking powder
1 tsp	baking soda
375 ml	buttermilk
1	egg
1/2 tsp	vanilla extract
70 g	unsalted butter
250 g	blueberries

1. Preheat oven to 180 °C.
2. Mix dry ingredients and wet ingredients separately. Combine. Bake in muffin tins.
3. Bake for 20–25 minutes.

Buttermilk Pancakes

Makes 9 pancakes

10 minutes

Source: [45]

1 c	all-purpose flour
1 tsp	sugar
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	salt
$\frac{3}{4}$ tsp	double-acting baking powder
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	baking soda
1	egg
1 c	buttermilk or yogurt
2 Tbsp	melted butter

1. Sift the dry ingredients into a large bowl.
2. In a smaller bowl beat the egg until light. Add and beat the buttermilk and melted butter.
3. Make a well in the dry ingredients and Mix in the liquid with a few swift strokes. (Beating it will cause the batter to be tough.) If it is too thick, stir in some milk.
4. Drop onto a hot buttered griddle. The griddle is hot enough if a drop of water dances on its surface. If the water sits and boils, the griddle is not hot enough. If it disappears, it is too hot. When bubbles appear on the upper surface of the pancakes, but before the bubbles break, turn the pancakes. Only turn once. Remove from pan when second side is done, about half as long as required for the first side.
5. Serve at once. If this is not possible, store in a 200 °F oven on a towel-covered baking sheet. Do not stack, as off-gassing will make the pancakes flabby.
6. Serve with maple syrup and extra butter.

Blueberry Ricotta Pancakes

Serves 3–4

Makes 8

15 minutes

Source: [52]

250 g	ricotta
4 Tbsp	caster sugar
3	eggs, separated
1	orange zest
28 g	melted butter (2 Tbsp)
50 g	flour
100 g	blueberries

1. Begin beating egg whites slowly.
2. In a large bowl, mix the ricotta, caster sugar, and egg yolks. Grate the orange into the bowl and stir it in gently with the melted butter.
3. Sift in the flour and carefully fold in.
4. Beat the egg whites until stiff, then fold them lightly into the ricotta. Carefully fold in the blueberries.
5. Warm a non-stick frying pan over a moderate heat, brush with a little butter, then place a heaped tablespoon of mixture into the pan, and another two or three depending on the size of your pan. Cook for a minute or two till they have risen slightly and the underside has coloured, then, using a palette knife, flip them over. Do this as if you mean it, or they will collapse as you turn them. A further few minutes cooking, then serve immediately.

Whole Wheat Pancakes

Makes 9 pancakes

10 minutes

Source: [45]

$\frac{1}{2}$ c	all-purpose flour
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	salt
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	double-acting baking powder
$\frac{3}{4}$ tsp	baking soda
1 c	finely milled whole wheat flour
2 Tbsp	sugar, honey, or molasses
1	egg
2 c	buttermilk or yogurt
2 Tbsp	melted butter

1. Sift into a large bowl the all-purpose flour, salt, and leavening. Stir in whole wheat flour.
2. In a smaller bowl combine and beat the sugar, egg, buttermilk, and melted butter.
3. Make a well in the dry ingredients and Mix in the liquid with a few swift strokes. (Beating it will cause the batter to be tough.) If it is too thick, stir in some milk.
4. Drop onto a hot buttered griddle. The griddle is hot enough if a drop of water dances on its surface. If the water sits and boils, the griddle is not hot enough. If it disappears, it is too hot. When bubbles appear on the upper surface of the pancakes, but before the bubbles break, turn the pancakes. Only turn once. Remove from pan when second side is done, about half as long as required for the first side.

5. Serve at once. If this is not possible, store in a 200 °F oven on a towel-covered baking sheet. Do not stack, as off-gassing will make the pancakes flabby.
6. Serve with maple syrup and extra butter.

Herb and Onion Savory Waffles

Serves 3

15 minutes

Source: [52]

2	large eggs, separated
1 $\frac{3}{4}$ c	milk
90 g	butter (6 Tbsp), melted
2 c	flour
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	salt
1 Tbsp	baking powder
2 Tbsp	grated onion
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	sage
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	thyme
1 Tbsp	freshly chopped parsley

1. Heat waffle iron.
2. Beat egg whites until stiff. Set aside.
3. In a medium bowl, combine egg yolks, milk, and melted butter. Add flour, salt, and baking powder. Stir to blend well. Add the onion and spices. Fold in the egg whites.
4. Oil or butter the iron if necessary. Ladle enough batter to cover two-thirds of the grid. Close and cook until steam stops, about five minutes.

Waffles

Makes 9

15

Source: [45]

1 ³ / ₄ c	cake flour
2 tsp	double-acting baking powder
1 ¹ / ₂ tsp	salt
1 Tbsp	sugar
3	eggs
7 Tbsp	butter, melted
1 ¹ / ₂ c	milk

1. Heat a waffle iron.
2. Sift dry ingredients into a large bowl.
3. Separate eggs. Beat yolks until light. Add melted butter and milk. Make a well in the center of the dry ingredients and mix in the liquid with a few swift strokes. The batter should have a pebbled look, similar to a muffin batter. Add any mix-ins, see below.
4. Beat the egg whites until stiff. Fold into the batter until they are barely blended.
5. Cover the grid until it is about ²/₃ covered. Cook about four minutes—steam will stop emerging from the iron when the waffle is done. If the top of the iron resists opening, the waffle is probably not done, cook slightly longer.
6. If the iron is, indeed, made of iron, it should be seasoned and then never washed (only brushed or wiped) and will need no additional oil or butter.

7. At high altitudes, use about $\frac{1}{4}$ less baking powder or soda than recommended.

Optional mix-ins:

- $\frac{1}{2}$ c fresh fruit or berries
- $\frac{1}{4}$ c raisins or puréed dried fruit
- $\frac{1}{4}$ c grated semisweet chocolate
- $\frac{1}{4}$ c shredded sharp cheese

Salads

101 Simple Salads for Summer

20 minutes

Source: [39]

The idea is roughly that these are simple summer salads that take under twenty minutes each to prepare and that offer a nice meal.

(Those with meat or that I don't like are omitted, but I've kept the numbering for ease of reference.)

Mostly Vegan Salads

1. Cube watermelon and combine with tomato chunks, basil and basic vinaigrette. You can substitute peach for the watermelon or the tomato (but not both, O.K.?). You can also add bacon or feta, but there goes the vegan-ness.
2. Mix wedges of tomatoes and peaches, add slivers of red onion, a few red-pepper flakes and cilantro. Dress with olive oil and lime or lemon juice. Astonishing.
3. A nice cucumber salad: Slice cucumbers thin (if they're fat and old, peel and seed them first), toss with red onions and salt, then let sit for 20 to 60 minutes. Rinse, dry, dress with cider vinegar mixed with Dijon mustard; no oil necessary.
4. Shave raw asparagus stalks with a vegetable peeler. Discard the tough first pass of the peeler—i.e., the peel—but do use the tips, whole. Dress with lemon vinaigrette and coarse salt. (Chopped hard-boiled eggs optional but good.)
5. Grate or very thinly slice Jerusalem artichokes; mix with pitted and chopped oil-cured olives, olive oil, lemon juice and a sprinkling of coarsely ground cumin. Unusual and wonderful.
6. Sichuan slaw: Toss bean sprouts, shredded carrots and celery, minced fresh chili, soy sauce, sesame oil and a bit of sugar. Top with chopped peanuts and chopped basil, mint and/or cilantro. (The full trio is best.)

7. Grate carrots, toast some sunflower seeds, and toss with blueberries, olive oil, lemon juice and plenty of black pepper. Sweet, sour, crunchy, soft.
8. Chop or slice radishes (or jicama, or the ever-surprising kohlrabi) and combine with chopped or sliced unripe (i.e., still crunchy) mango, lime juice and mint or cilantro.
9. Chop or slice jicama (or radishes or kohlrabi) and mango and mix with coconut milk, lime juice, curry powder and cilantro or mint.
10. Cook whole grape tomatoes in olive oil over high heat until they brown lightly, sprinkling with curry powder. Cool a bit, then toss with chopped arugula, loads of chopped mint and lime juice.
11. Chop and steam baby or grown-up bok choy until crisp-tender, then shock it in ice water. Drain, then toss with halved cherry tomatoes, capers, olive oil and lemon juice.
12. Combine sliced fennel and prune plums; serve with vinaigrette spiked with minced ginger. Nice pairing.
13. A red salad: Combine tomato wedges with halved strawberries, basil leaves, shaved Parmesan and balsamic vinegar.
14. A classic Moroccan thing: Thinly slice carrots, or grate or shred them (the food processor makes quick work of this). Toss with toasted cumin seeds, olive oil, lemon juice and cilantro. Raisins are good in here, too. There is no better use of raw carrots.
15. Cut cherry or grape tomatoes in half; toss with soy sauce, a bit of dark sesame oil and basil or cilantro. I love this—the tomato juice-soy thing is incredible.
16. Slice fennel and crisp apple about the same thickness (your choice). Combine, then dress with mustardy vinaigrette and chopped parsley. Come fall, this will be even better.
17. With thanks to Szechuan Gourmet restaurant: Finely chop celery and mix with a roughly equal amount of pressed or smoked tofu, chopped. Dress with peanut oil warmed with chili flakes and Sichuan peppercorns, then mixed with soy sauce.

18. Roughly chop cooked or canned chickpeas (you can pulse them, carefully, in a food processor) and toss with olive oil, lemon juice, lots of chopped fresh parsley and mint, and a few chopped tomatoes. Call this chickpea tabbouleh.
19. Mix cooked cannellini or other white beans, chopped cherry or grape tomatoes and arugula or baby spinach. Lightly toast sliced garlic in olive oil with rosemary and red pepper flakes; cool slightly, add lemon zest or juice or both, then pour over beans.
20. Shred Napa cabbage and radishes. The dressing is roasted peanuts, lime juice, peanut or other oil, cilantro and fresh or dried chili, all whizzed in a blender. Deliciousness belies ease.
21. Dice cucumbers (if they're fat and old, peel and seed them first) and toss with cubes of avocado, a little mirin (or honey, but then it's not vegan), rice vinegar and soy sauce. (You could mix in a little lump crab meat, really not vegan, even rice, and call it a California roll salad.)
22. Thinly slice button mushrooms; toss with finely chopped carrots and celery and mix with mung bean sprouts. Finish with peanut or olive oil, sherry vinegar, a little soy sauce and minced ginger. (This is a super vinaigrette, by the way.)
23. Thinly slice some cucumbers (if they're fat and old, peel and seed them first), red onions, radishes and fresh chili pepper. Soak for a few minutes in equal amounts vinegar and water, with some salt and sugar. When they taste lightly pickled, drain and serve, alone or over rice.
24. Blanch spinach, then drain and shock in ice water. Squeeze it dry, chop it and toss it with toasted pine nuts, raisins, olive oil and a tiny bit of balsamic vinegar. Capers are good, too. Quite elegant, actually.
25. Combine chopped bell peppers, tomatoes, red onion, chilies and cilantro, then toss with corn tortilla strips, toasted in a 350-degree oven until crisp (or yes, use packaged chips; why not?). Dust with chili powder and lots of lime juice.
26. Combine mushroom caps and thinly sliced red onions with olive oil; broil gently until tender and browned. Toss with a lot of chopped fresh parsley or basil (or both) and a simple vinaigrette. Some chopped escarole, arugula or watercress is good, too.

27. Cook whole, unpeeled eggplant in a dry, hot skillet or on a grill, turning occasionally, until completely collapsed and soft. Chop and toss with toasted pita, toasted pine nuts, cooked white beans and halved cherry tomatoes. Dress with olive oil, lemon juice and lots of black pepper. Or a (non-vegan) yogurt dressing is good, especially one laced with tahini.

28. Toss mâche or another soft green with toasted slivered almonds and roughly chopped fresh figs. Thin some almond butter with water and sherry vinegar to taste and use as a dressing. Some will like this with fresh goat cheese.

29. Pit and halve cherries (or halve and pit cherries), then cook gently with olive oil and a little balsamic vinegar until they break down. Toss with chopped radicchio, endive, escarole or a combination, some toasted hazelnuts and more oil and vinegar, if necessary.

30. Fast, grown-up potato salad: Boil bite-size red potatoes. While still warm, dress them with olive oil, lemon juice, whole grain mustard, capers and parsley. Chopped shallots, bell peppers, etc., all welcome, too.

31. Roast beets whole (or buy them precooked), then slice or cube and toss with a little chopped garlic (or a lot of roasted garlic), toasted walnuts, orange juice and olive oil.

32. Same deal with the beets, but toss with cooked corn, arugula, olive oil, sherry vinegar and chopped shallots.

33. The real five-bean: Chickpeas, cannellini or other white beans, kidney or other red beans, steamed string beans and steamed yellow wax beans. Toss with vinaigrette, chopped scallions or red onion, and parsley.

34. Grill quartered romaine hearts, radicchio and/or endive. Drizzle with olive oil and sherry vinegar, and add dill and chopped shallots. Teeny-tiny croutons are great on this.

35. Combine cooked or canned black beans with shredded cabbage and this vinaigrette: olive oil, fresh orange juice, not much sherry vinegar, ground cumin.

36. Mix cooked or canned chickpeas with toasted coconut, shredded carrots, chopped celery, curry powder, olive oil, lime juice and cilantro.

Vegetarian Salads

37. Cube smoked tofu, then brush it with a mixture of honey and orange juice; broil until browned. Toss with chopped cucumbers, radishes and peas or pea shoots; drizzle with soy sauce and lime juice.

38. Cube watermelon; combine with roughly chopped mint, crumbled feta, sliced red onion and chopped Kalamata olives. Dress lightly with olive oil and lemon juice. Despite saltiness of feta and olives, this may need salt.

39. Yucatecan street food as salad: Roast fresh corn kernels in a pan with a little oil; toss with cayenne or minced chilis, lime juice and a little queso fresco. Cherry tomatoes are optional.

40. Slice cucumber and top with capers, olive oil, lots of pepper and little dollops of fresh ricotta. Note: cucumbers, ricotta and oil must all be really good.

41. Halve avocados and scoop out some but not all of their flesh. Roughly chop and toss with black beans, queso fresco, cilantro, chopped tomatillos and lime juice. Serve in the meaty avocado shells.

42. Trim crusts if necessary from day-or-two-old bread (or even three-day-old bread), cube and marinate in black olive tapenade thinned with more olive oil. Add chopped capers and toss with tomatoes, basil and mozzarella. (Anchovies optional.)

43. Grate raw beets (use the food processor to avoid ruining everything within spattering distance) and toss with watercress or arugula. Top with sherry vinaigrette and a little goat cheese. Especially obvious, perhaps, but also especially popular.

44. Make a crisp grilled cheese sandwich, with good bread and not too much good cheese. Let it cool, then cut into croutons. Put them on anything, but especially tomato and basil salad. This you will do forever.

45. Halve or quarter cooked artichoke hearts (the best are fresh and grilled, but you can use canned or frozen) and combine with cherry tomatoes, bits of feta or Parmesan or both, olive oil and lemon juice.

46. Sauté mushrooms and shallots in olive oil. Add a lot of spinach, chopped unless the leaves are small. When it wilts, stir in parsley and crumbled blue cheese. Feels like a steakhouse side-dish salad.

47. Thinly slice raw button mushrooms; combine with sliced or shaved Parmesan, parsley and a vinaigrette of olive oil, sherry vinegar and shallots.

48. Toss roughly chopped dandelion greens (or arugula or watercress) with chopped preserved lemon, chickpeas, crumbled feta and olive oil. (Before you start cursing me out, here's a quick way to make preserved lemons: chop whole lemons and put in a bowl with the juice of another lemon or two, sprinkle with a fair amount of salt and let sit for an hour or so.)

49. Toss greens with walnuts, blue cheese and raspberries; drizzle with a simple vinaigrette.

50. It's puttanesca-ish: Egg salad with pitted black olives, chopped tomatoes, capers, anchovies (optional), a tiny bit of garlic and some red onion; mayonnaise as needed.

51. Arrange sliced ripe tomatoes and hard-boiled eggs on a platter; scatter a handful of chopped pitted green olives on top. Drizzle with a dressing made with olive oil, sherry vinegar and a teaspoon of pimenton.

52. Chop hard-boiled eggs and mix with just enough mayonnaise to bind; spoon into endive leaves. Top each with a small canned sardine and drizzle with a vinaigrette of olive oil, lemon juice and mustard.

53. Peel beets and grate them in a food processor. Mix equal parts plain yogurt and tahini, and toss with the beets along with lemon juice and za'atar (a mixture of toasted sesame seeds, dried green herbs and ground sumac; you can make it yourself using dried thyme).

54. Slice roasted red peppers (if you must use canned, try to find piquillos) and fresh mozzarella. Toss with cooked white beans, olive oil, red wine vinegar, a chopped shallot and fresh rosemary or parsley.

Salads with Seafood

55. Mix watercress with chopped smoked salmon, avocado, red onion and capers. Make a vinaigrette with olive oil, sherry vinegar and mustard powder.
56. Salade niçoise, sort of: On or around a bed of greens, make mounds of olives, cooked new potatoes and green beans (warm or at room temperature), good tomatoes, capers, fennel slivers, hard-cooked eggs and good quality Italian canned tuna. None of these is crucial; you get the idea. Serve with vinaigrette or aioli.
57. Toss cubes of day-or-more-old good bread with soy sauce, chopped sautéed shrimp, chopped radishes and cilantro. Like a weird shrimp toast panzanella.
58. Sear tuna until rare (for that matter, you could leave it raw) and cut it into small cubes. Toss with shredded jicama or radish and shredded Napa cabbage; season with mirin, soy sauce and cilantro. Avocado and/or wasabi paste are great with this, too.
59. Sear tuna, or use good canned tuna. Chop it up and mix with chopped olives, capers, tomatoes, parsley and olive oil.
60. Ditto on the tuna. Mix with chopped apples, halved seedless grapes, chopped red onion, olive oil, a bit of cumin and black pepper.
61. Mix canned salmon (sockeye, or use cooked fresh) with capers, chopped celery, yogurt or mayonnaise, and lemon juice. Serve on greens or in endive leaves.
62. Dust shrimp with chili powder. Sauté in butter or oil (or a combination) with fresh corn kernels and flavorful cooking greens (bok choy is good, as is watercress). Add halved cherry tomatoes and lime juice at the last minute.
63. Sunday brunch salad: Mix diced cucumbers, chopped tomato, minced red onion and capers with bits of smoked salmon. Dress with lemon juice (you won't need much oil, if any). Take a step further by adding croutons of cubed toasted bagels.
64. Alternative Sunday brunch: Shred or chop cucumbers (if they're fat and old, peel and seed them first), then toss with flaked smoked trout or whitefish, capers, dill, lemon juice and olive oil.

65. In a hot pan, flash-cook cut-up squid in a little olive oil for no more than two minutes. Toss with cooked or canned chickpeas, chopped bell peppers, lemon juice, a little more oil and parsley.

66. In a hot pan, sear sea scallops for a minute or two on each side, depending on size. Slice or chop, then toss with thinly sliced fennel and lemon or orange vinaigrette and some chopped fennel fronds.

67. Bread salad for anchovy lovers: Chop together many anchovies, a few capers, lemon juice and olive oil (or anchovy oil). Toss with cubes of toasted bread and chopped tomatoes or halved cherry or grape tomatoes.

68. Mix crab meat with pan-roasted corn, chopped avocado, halved cherry or grape tomatoes, olive oil, lemon juice and perhaps a bit of cilantro and crumbled ancho chili.

69. Stir-fry small or chopped shrimp in olive or peanut oil with lots of ginger; while still warm, combine with tomato wedges, chopped romaine, cilantro, scallions and lots of lime juice. Good in pita.

Salads with Noodles

84. Spring rolls, unrolled: One at a time, soften a few sheets of rice paper in warm water. Drain, pat dry, cut into strips and toss with chopped cucumber, grated carrots, chopped cilantro, bean sprouts, chili flakes and chopped roasted peanuts. Dress with toasted sesame oil, fish sauce or soy sauce, and rice vinegar or lime juice. A few shrimp are a nice addition.

85. Mix lots of arugula with somewhat less cold whole wheat penne, lemon zest, olive oil and Parmesan. The idea is an arugula salad with pasta, not a pasta salad with arugula.

86. Toss chilled cooked soba noodles with diced cucumber (if they're fat and old, peel and seed them first), a small amount of hijiki reconstituted with water, toasted sesame seeds and a vinaigrette laced with soy sauce and miso.

87. Cold not-sesame noodles: Combine about a half-cup peanut butter with a tablespoon soy sauce and enough coconut milk to make the mixture creamy (about a half cup), along with garlic and chili flakes in a blender or food processor. Toss sauce with cooked and cooled noodles, a load of mint, Thai basil, and/or cilantro, and lime juice. Shredded cucumber and carrots optional.
88. Toss cooked pasta with roasted red peppers, toasted walnuts, fresh goat cheese, basil and olive oil. Corny, but still good.
89. Soak or cook rice noodles, drain and rinse; toss with cubed unripe mango, chopped peanuts, shredded carrot and minced scallion. Make a dressing of rice vinegar, fish sauce, lime juice, chili and a bit of sugar.
90. Sort of classic pasta salad: Pasta, artichoke hearts, sliced prosciutto or salami, chopped plum tomato. Dress with olive oil and a bit of balsamic vinegar, perhaps with some mustard.

Grain Salads

91. Cereal for grown-ups: Start with puffed brown rice; toss with chopped tomatoes, scallions, a minced chili, cooked or canned chickpeas and toasted unsweetened coconut. Dress with coconut milk and lime juice.
92. Simmer a cup of bulgur and some roughly chopped cauliflower florets until tender, 10 to 15 minutes. Toss with chopped tarragon, roughly chopped hazelnuts, minced garlic, Dijon mustard, olive oil and lemon juice.
93. Mix leftover rice with lemon or lime juice, soy sauce and a combination of sesame and peanut oils. Microwave if necessary to soften the rice, then serve at room temperature, tossed with sprouts, shredded radishes, chopped scallions, bits of cooked meat or fish if you like and more soy sauce.
94. Cook and cool quinoa. Toss with olive oil, loads of lemon juice, tons of parsley, some chopped tomatoes and, if you like, toasted pine nuts. Call it quinoa tabbouleh.
95. Mix cooked couscous or quinoa with orange zest and juice, olive oil, maybe honey, sliced oranges, raisins or dried cranberries, chopped red onion and chopped almonds. Serve over greens, or not.

96. Cook short-grain white rice in watered-down coconut milk (be careful that it doesn't burn) and a few cardamom pods. While warm, toss with peas (they can be raw if they're fresh and tender), chopped cashews or pistachios, a pinch of chili flakes and chopped raw spinach.
97. Toss cooked, cooled farro, wheat berries, barley or other chewy grain with chopped-up grapes. Add olive oil, lemon juice and thinly sliced romaine lettuce; toss again, with ricotta salata or feta if you want.
98. Toss cooked bulgur with cooked chickpeas, quartered cherry or grape tomatoes, a little cumin, lots of chopped parsley, and lemon juice.
99. Toss cooked quinoa with fresh sliced apricots, cherries, pecans, and enough lemon and black pepper to make the whole thing savory.
100. Mash a canned chipotle with some of its adobo and stir with olive oil and lime juice. Toss with drained canned hominy, fresh corn cut from the cob (or drained pinto beans), cilantro and green onions.
101. Cook a pot of short-grain rice. While it's still hot, toss with raw grated zucchini, fermented black beans, sriracha, sesame oil, sake and a touch of rice vinegar. Add bits of leftover roast chicken or pork if you have it, and pass soy sauce at the table.

Salad 102

(Try to prevent the water from getting agitated while the lentils are cooking, as that will cause them to burst and lose their shape. The goal is to have perfectly cooked lentils—light and distinct.) Cooking time should be around 20 to 30 minutes. check the water level and add more if necessary. Drain the lentils when they are done and gently rinse in cold water. Drain again and place in a large bowl.

Bagels

Makes 12

2 hours

Source: [52]

1 ¹ / ₂ c	warm water
2 ¹ / ₄ tsp	baking yeast
4 c	flour
2 Tbsp	malt syrup
2 tsp	kosher salt
4 tsp	granulated sugar
1	egg white

1. Dissolve yeast in water, set aside.
2. In a stand mixer fitted with dough hook, combine remaining ingredients except egg. Add yeast mixture. Knead. The dough should be dry, not tacky or sticky, and somewhat stiff.
3. Shape the dough into a ball, place it in a large oiled bowl, and turn it to coat in oil. Cover the bowl with a damp towel and let the dough rise in a warm place, until it is noticeably puffy and springs back when you poke it, about 20 minutes. (The dough will not double in size.)
4. While the bagels are rising,
 - Preheat the oven to 220 °C with rack in the middle.
 - Fill a large, wide, shallow pan (about 3 to 6 quarts) with water, bring to a boil over high heat, then reduce heat to medium low and let simmer. Cover until ready.
 - Line a baking sheet with parchment paper greased with oil.
 - Place a metal rack inside of a second baking sheet and set aside.

5. Turn the risen dough out onto a dry surface and divide into 12 equal pieces. Roll each piece into a rope about 20–25 cm long, lightly moisten the ends with water, overlap the ends by 2–3 cm, and press to join. Widen the hole in the middle to 2 cm if necessary. Cover the shaped bagels with a damp towel and let rest 10 minutes.
6. After resting, stretch the dough to retain the 2–3 cm hole and boil the bagels several at a time, making sure they have room to bob around. Cook 30 seconds on each side, until they have a shriveled look. Remove to the baking sheet with the rack in it. Adjust heat as necessary so the water stays at a simmer.
7. Whisk together one Tbsp water and the egg white. Brush the bagels with the egg wash. Sprinkle topping if desired.
8. Arrange the bagels on the baking sheet lined with parchment paper about 2–3 cm apart and bake. Rotate the pan after 15 minutes and bake until the bagels are a deep caramel color and have formed a crust on the bottom and top, about 10 minutes more.
9. Remove from the oven and let cool on a rack for 30 minutes so the interiors finish cooking and the crusts form a chewy exterior.

Pâte Brisée

Makes a 9-inch pie shell

15 minutes

Source: [45]

156 g	butter (11 Tbsp)
2 c	all-purpose flour (335 g ?)
$\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	salt
5–6 Tbsp	water

This crust is best for savory fillings. Use pâte sucrée for sweet pies.

The dough can be stored refrigerated for a week or more before baking.

1. Work butter very lightly into flour and salt. This can be done best by working the flour and butter first with the fingers and then lightly and quickly rotating it between the palms of the hands.
2. Make a well in the flour mixture and gradually pour in the water. Use the index finger to stir the liquid quickly into the flour in a spiral fashion, beginning at the inside of the well and gradually moving to the outer edge. The dough should be soft enough to gather up into a ball but should not stick to the fingers or the board.
3. Allow the dough to rest refrigerated from 2 to 36 hours. Cover it with a damp, wrung-out cloth for the shorter period or a piece of foil for the longer one. The resting of the dough breaks any rubbery reactions it might develop when rolled and handled.
4. Roll or press into a pie crust. Bake with filling according to need.

Pâte Sucrée

15 minutes

Source: [45]

1 c	all-purpose flour

1 Tbsp	lemon juice or water

This crust is best for sweet fruit fillings. Use pâte brisée for savory pies.

The dough can be stored refrigerated for a week or more before baking.

1. Combine flour, sugar, and salt. Work the butter into it as for pastry, using a pastry blender or fingers.
2. Make a well and add the remaining ingredients. Stir with fingers until the mixture forms one blended ball and no longer adheres to the hand. Cover and refrigerate for at least 30 minutes.
3. Roll to a 1/8-inch thickness as for pie dough.
4. Line the tart pans with the dough. Prick and weight down with beans or pebbles.
5. Bake at 400 °F (205 °C) for 7 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned.

$13\frac{1}{2}$ Tbsp	butter (192 g)
$4\frac{1}{2}$ Tbsp	cold water

Food Processor Version

1. Process flour and salt for 20 seconds.
2. Distribute butter evenly and process until the mixture resembles coarse meal, 15 to 20 seconds.
3. With the food processor running, pour the ice water in a steady stream through the feed tube and process just until the dough comes together.

Manual Version

- Whisk flour and salt in a large mixing bowl.
- Rub the butter into the flour with fingertips or cut it in with a pastry blender.
- Sprinkle the water over the mixture while tossing with a fork.

And then...

- Knead the dough several turns on a lightly floured surface to bring it together. Shape into one (or two) thick disks, wrap in plastic wrap, and refrigerate at least 1 hour.
- To roll out the dough, place the chilled dough between two pieces of baking parchment and roll out to a diameter two inches bigger than the size of the pan. Fit to the pan, trim the edges, and keep in the refrigerator until ready to fill. (If pre-baking the crust, refrigerate at least 30 minutes before baking.)

Roasted Pepper Zucchini Spread

Makes 1 liter

20 minutes (?)

Source: [2]

2	large zucchinis
1	apple
3 cloves	garlic
150 g	sun-dried tomatoes
1 Tbsp	olive oil
	black pepper
	cayenne pepper
	basil

1. Purée everything in a food processor. Serve.

It may be that the flavor improves by the next day. Initially the flavor sequence is a bit strange, with sweetness (apple) followed by saltiness (tomato) followed by garlic.

I roasted one of the zucchinis in order to reduce moisture. It's not clear that this was worth the bother.

I added three or four prunes as sweetener. I don't think this was worthwhile, although it didn't hurt.

The olive oil probably could be omitted without ill effect.

Whole Wheat Bread

Makes 2 loaves

1 hour plus 2 hours for baking and cooling

Source: [2]

2 c	warm water
2 Tbsp	dried yeast
6 c	whole wheat flour
2 Tbsp	honey
1 Tbsp	salt

I make bread using a KitchenAid mixer, which permits me to add all of the flour at once, adjusting at the end if I didn't add enough. (I can add water at the end if I added too much, but the result is not quite as good.)

If kneading by hand, add only half of the flour, then slowly add more as you knead it.

1. In mixing bowl, gently pour yeast on top of warm water that is just barely hot to the touch. Let sit several minutes without stirring for yeast to dissolve.
2. Add flour (precise quantity depends heavily on humidity and any other items you add), honey, and salt. Mix until thick and then knead well.
3. Let rise until a finger poked into the bread easily makes a whole. Punch down, form loaves, dust well with whole wheat flour, and place on a cookie sheet dusted with whole wheat flour. Preheat oven to 425 °F.
4. When loaves have risen (doubled), place in oven. Reduce temperature to 350 °F and bake about 40 minutes, until loaves, when tapped on the bottom, sound hollow.

5. Cool thoroughly on wire racks.

Note that almost anything can be added. Oil, butter, or grated cheese makes for a richer loaf. Spices or finely chopped (and cooked) vegetables work well, too.

	thyme

1. Cook the lentils.
2. While the lentils are cooking, coarsely chop the onion and sauté in olive oil. The idea for the onion and all the other chopped vegetables in this dish is to keep them large enough to be recognizable at the end and to give the dish interesting texture but small enough to be bite sized.
3. When the onions are starting to become translucent, add garlic.
4. Chop broccoli and add to onion and garlic. Add peppers and any other vegetables desired. Add tomatoes last when the other vegetables are at least limp.
5. Season to taste and simmer 15–30 minutes. Add lentils.

Broccoli and Tofu in spicy peanut sauce

Serves 4–5

1 hour

Source: [29]

Peanut Sauce:

$\frac{1}{2}$ c	peanut butter (no sugar)
$\frac{1}{2}$ c	hot water
$\frac{1}{4}$ c	cider vinegar
2 Tbsp	tamari sauce
2 Tbsp	blackstrap molasses
$\frac{1}{4}$ – $\frac{1}{2}$ tsp	cayenne pepper

1. In a small suacepan, whisk together the peanut butter and the hot water until you have a uniform mixture.
2. Whisk in the remaining ingredients. Set aside.

The Sauté:

1 c	rice
1 lb	fresh broccoli
3 Tbsp	peanut oil
2 tsp	freshly-grated ginger root
4	medium cloves garlic, minced
1 lb	tofu, cut into small cubes
	salt
2 c	onion, thinly sliced
1 c	coarsely chopped raw peanuts
2–3 Tbsp	tamari sauce
2	scallions, freshly minced

1. Start cooking rice.
2. Cut off the bottom half-inch of the broccoli stems. Shave off the tough outer skins of the stalks with a sharp paring knife or a vegetable peeler. Cut the stalks diagonally into thin slices. Coarsely chop the flowerettes. Set aside.
3. Begin heating the wok (or a large, heavy skillet). When it is hot add 1 Tbsp of the peanut oil. Add half the ginger and half the garlic. Salt lightly. Sauté over medium heat for 1 minute, then add the tofu chunks. Turn the heat up a little and stir-fry the tofu for 5–8 minutes. Transfer it, including whatever liquid it might have expressed, to the saucepanful of peanut sauce. Mix together gently.
4. Wipe the wok with a paper towel and return it to the stove to begin heating once again. Add the remaining 2 Tbsp of oil to the hot wok and follow suit with the remaining ginger and garlic. Salt lightly. Add the onions and grind in some fresh black pepper. Sauté, stirring frequently over medium heat until the onions are soft, about 5 minutes.
5. On another burner, begin heating the peanut-tofu sauce on a very low flame. It shouldn't actually cook—it only needs to be warmed through.
6. Add the broccoli and the chopped peanuts to the wok. Add 2–3 Tbsp tamari sauce and stir-fry over medium-high heat until the broccoli is bright green and just tender, about 5 minutes.
7. Pour the heated peanut sauce over the sauté. Toss gently until everything is coated with everything else. Sprinkle in the minced scallions as you toss.
8. Serve over rice.

Place another leaf directly on top of the first and brush it with more butter. Continue the layering and buttering until you have a pile of four. Butter the top leaf.

Gnocchi

Serves 6–7 people

45 minutes (?)

Source: [52]

5 Idaho	potatoes
2	eggs
2 Tbsp	butter
	salt
	flour

1. Boil potatoes in water, then skin them and rice them into a pile while still hot. (Don't mash: it makes a too-gooney mess. Using the fine grater of a food processor might work well.)
2. Make a similar or slightly smaller pile of flour. Mix the flour, potatoes, eggs, and butter together. Mix as little as possible to avoid forming a gooey paste.
3. Roll into strips 10–15 mm in diameter, cutting into 20–25 mm lengths. Roll gnocchi off a fork or butter paddle to create indentations that permit better and quicker cooking.
4. Cook only until gnocchi float to the surface, then lift from water and place in colander, then into sauce. (Cooking longer apparently makes them tend to fall apart.)

Prakus

1 hour(?) plus about two hours to cook

Source: [4, 27]

Original Recipe

This recipe needs to be converted: some combination of lentils, wheat, eggs, mushroom, etc., ought to make a good center ball.

1	cabbage
2 lbs	ground meat
	salt and pepper
1	egg
	bread crumbs
1	onion
1 can	tomato soup
1	large can tomato sauce
2 Tbsp	vinegar
2 Tbsp	sugar

1. Core cabbage. Boil cabbage to make it less brittle. Keep water.
2. Combine meat, bread crumbs, egg, salt, and pepper.
3. Sauté onions in large cooking pot. Add tomato soup, tomato sauce, vinegar, and sugar. Add some water from cabbage.
4. Form meatballs and wrap in cabbage leaves. Place in sauce. Add more water if needed.
5. Simmer until cabbage is brownish and cooked, a couple hours.

Vegetarian Prakus

1	cabbage
2 c	red lentils, dry, cooked
1 c	green lentils, dry, cooked
	butter
2	red onions
3	cloves garlic
10 oz	mushroom, chopped
28 oz	crushed tomato
8 oz	tomato paste
1	potato, boiled, lightly mashed
1 ¹ / ₂ Tbsp	garam masala
1 ¹ / ₂ tsp	ground cloves
	salt and pepper
2	eggs
2 Tbsp	vinegar
2 Tbsp	sugar

1. Core cabbage. Boil cabbage until soft. Do not overboil or the leaves will not have the strength to be used as wrappings. Reserve the water from the cabbage, but remove the cabbage so it can drain and cool.
2. Cook lentils. Note that green lentils take longer to cook, so either start them first and then add red or else cook separately.
3. Sauté onions in butter. Add garlic. Add mushrooms and simmer.
4. Add crushed tomato, tomato paste, potato, and spices. Add some of the water from the cabbage if necessary. Simmer ten more minutes.
5. Add lentils, remove more solid portion to a bowl and let cool. Reserve more liquid portion for sauce. The sauce will have vegetables and lentils in it.
6. Add eggs and mix well.

7. Form balls and wrap in cabbage leaves. Place in sauce. Add more cabbage water as needed to cover all the wrapped balls.
8. Simmer until cabbage is brownish and cooked, a couple hours.

This can also be made by shredding the cabbage instead of using it as a wrapping. The result is a stew. To make as a stew, instead of boiling the cabbage, shred it and add with a little water after the mushrooms are cooked but before adding the tomato mixture. Cook until the cabbage just begins to wilt, then add tomato, etc.

Don't form balls, but do let cook over low heat for an hour or more.

I consider this recipe still in the experimental stage.

2 pts	fresh berries (about 500 g)(blueberries, raspberries, etc.)

3. Before serving, unmold and slice with a sharp knife dipped in hot water.
4. Puree berries and sugar in blender until smooth. Serve with pâté.

Blueberries apparently have enough pectin that the berry mixture will begin to gel. This isn't bad, but suggests pouring the berry mixture on the chocolate an hour or so before serving.

Dark Chocolate Mousse

Makes 4 cups

1 hour plus several hours to set

Source: [10]

4	egg yolks
$\frac{1}{2}$ c	sugar
$2 \frac{1}{2}$ c	heavy cream
6 oz	unsweetened chocolate, broken in chunks

1. Beat egg yolks until light. Gradually add sugar.
2. Heat one cup of the cream over low heat until warm. Gradually add half to the egg mixture and mix, then combine back to the warm cream.
3. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens.
4. Let cool several minutes, then add chocolate and stir until chocolate is melted and mixture is uniform. Cool until no longer warm.
5. Beat remaining cream until stiff. Mix half into chocolate, then fold the remainder into the chocolate.
6. Spoon into cups and refrigerate for at least several hours to set.

Notes:

- I found the chocolate mixture to be too thick, so I added two or three heaping tablespoons of ricotta.

- The original recipe suggested ten minutes cooling before adding the chocolate and two hours of cooling in the refrigerator before adding the cream. This seemed orders of magnitude excessive to me: a couple minutes sufficed.
- Before refrigerating, grate some 85% chocolate on top and maybe a tiny zest of orange rind for color.

Chocolate Mousse

Serves 5

1 hour; plus 6 hours to set

Source: [31]

5	eggs
1 1/2 tsp	vanilla
2 Tbsp	water (or liqueur)
5 oz	dark chocolate
2 Tbsp	unsalted butter
1/2 pint	heavy (whipping) cream

1. Separate eggs. Leave whites in whipping bowl. Put yolks (base) in steel bowl. Add vanilla and water. Beat. Heat on high; keep moving so it doesn't scramble, until ribbon stage (waves stay). Stir until cool. (Add water if it starts scrambling as it cools.)
2. The above can be done more sanely over a double boiler, but it still needs fast whipping (not simple stirring) to keep it from scrambling.
3. Melt chocolate with butter. Stir. Cool. Add to base.
4. In a new bowl, whip cream. When all is cool, beat egg whites.
5. Beat 1/4 whites into base. Fold in remainder. When 3/4 folded, fold in whipped cream. Let rest six hours.

Notes:

- About one egg per person provides a nice serving size, less per person is probably more reasonable.
- More butter makes it firmer for use in pastry layers.

Chocolate Orgasms

Makes 9–12 large brownies

30 minutes plus 30 minutes to bake, 1 hour to cool, one day to set

Source: [46]

Brownies

3 ¹ / ₂ oz	unsweetened chocolate
6 oz	unsalted butter, at room temperature
1 ¹ / ₂ c	sugar
³ / ₄ tsp	vanilla
3	large eggs, at room temperature
³ / ₄ c	plus 2 Tbsp flour

1. Preheat oven to 350 F. Lightly grease an 8 inch square pan with butter or vegetable oil.
2. Melt the chocolate and butter in the top of a double boiler placed over simmering water. Cool the mixture for 5 minutes.
3. Place the sugar in a medium-size mixing bowl and pour in the chocolate mixture. Using an electric mixer on medium speed, mix until blended, about 25 seconds. Scrape the bowl with a rubber spatula.
4. Add the vanilla. With the mixer on medium-low speed, add the eggs one at a time, blending after each addition until the yolk is broken and dispersed, about 10 seconds. Scrape the bowl after the last egg and blend until velvety, about 15 more seconds.
5. Add the flour on low speed and mix for 20 seconds; finish the mixing by hand, being certain to mix in any flour at the bottom of the bowl.

6. Spread the batter evenly in the prepared pan.
7. Bake the brownies on the center oven rack until a thin crust forms on top and a tester inserted in the center comes out with a moist crumb, 25 to 30 minutes.
8. Remove the pan from the oven and place it on a rack to cool for 1 hour before cutting the brownies. Serve the next day (it takes a day for the flavor to set).

Frosting

1 recipe	of brownies, above
1 1/2 oz	unsweetened chocolate
1/4 c	evaporated milk
1/3 c	sugar

1. Prepare the brownies and allow them to cool completely. Don't cut them yet.
2. To prepare the frosting, melt the chocolate in the top of a double boiler placed over simmering water.
3. Pour the evaporated milk into an electric blender and add the sugar and the melted chocolate. Blend the frosting on medium-low speed until it thickens, about 50 seconds (the sound of the machine will change when this process occurs).
4. Using a frosting spatula, spread the frosting evenly over the surface of the cooled brownies, and allow them to sit for 1 hour before cutting.

Chocolate Ricotta Spread

15 minutes

Source: [2]

400 g dark chocolate
400 g ricotta
 cinnamon or orange extract

1. Melt chocolate. While mixing ricotta with an electric mixer on high, slowly pour in chocolate. Add some cinnamon or orange extract if desired.
2. Serve on bread.

The goal is to avoid melting the ricotta while making this. To that end, the chocolate should be as cool as possible while still being liquid and the cheese should be at room temperature to avoid making the final product too hard.

The spread will separate as it is cooled and warmed.

4. Etaler chaque disque entre deux feuilles de papier cuisson et mettre dans des moules à tarte individuelles.
5. Faire cuire 10 minutes à 155–160 °C.

Biscuit chocolat

C'est à dire, mélanger énergiquement à l'aide d'une spatule de façon à créer un noyau élastique et brillant, puis rajouter petit à petit la crème comme on ajoute de l'huile à une mayonnaise. La texture devra être conservée jusqu'en fin de mélange.
3. Ajouter enfin le beurre en morceau.
4. Verser sur les fonds de tartes refroidis. Laisser refroidir.

1/4 c	warm water
1 c	(227 g) butter
1/2 c	(112 g) sugar
3	eggs
1 tsp	salt
1 c	warm milk
4-5 1/2 c	flour
	butter, cinnamon, sugar, and raisins for topping

1. Dissolve yeast in warm water.
2. Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time. Add salt. Add yeast, water, milk; then flour slowly. Knead until smooth and elastic.
3. Rise covered until doubled.
4. Roll out dough, sprinkle with butter, then cinnamon and sugar. Roll and cut as jelly rolls. Place in greased pan and again sprinkle with butter, cinnamon, and sugar. Rise 1/2 to 3/4 hours (until doubled).
5. Bake at 375 °F (190 °C) until brown (about 30 minutes).

Note that cinnamon and sugar mixture should be about half cinnamon and half granulated sugar. When sprinkling the mixture on buttered rolls the layer should be thick so as to make the dough appear dark red-brown.

1 ¹ / ₄ c	(250 g)	sugar
1 tsp		vanilla extract
1 ¹ / ₄ tsp		salt
2		eggs
1 ¹ / ₂ c		flour

1. Preheat oven to 400 °F (205 °C). Butter an 8-inch square pan.
2. In a large bowl melt butter and chocolate together.
3. Stir sugar, vanilla, and salt into chocolate mixture. Stir in eggs one at a time. Then stir in flour. Continue stirring until very smooth, until mixture pulls away from sides of bowl.
4. Scrape batter into prepared pan and bake 20 minutes.

Notes: Beat with an electric mixer, but do not whip, the ingredients. Something about the added density gives the brownies a more intense chocolate flavor and a better crust. The original recipe calls for chilling the brownies in a cold water bath immediately on exit from the oven.

567 g	bittersweet chocolate, at least 60% cocoa content (1 $\frac{1}{4}$ pounds)
	sea salt

1. Sift flours, baking soda, baking powder, and salt into a bowl. Set aside.
2. Using a mixer fitted with paddle attachment, cream butter and sugars together until very light, about 5 minutes. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Stir in the vanilla. Reduce speed to low, add dry ingredients and mix until just combined, 5 to 10 seconds. Drop chocolate pieces in and incorporate them without breaking them. Press plastic wrap against dough and refrigerate for 24 to 36 hours. Dough may be used in batches, and can be refrigerated for up to 72 hours.
3. When ready to bake, preheat oven to 350 degrees. Line a baking sheet with parchment paper or a nonstick baking mat. Set aside.

4. Scoop 6 3 1/2-ounce mounds of dough (the size of generous golf balls) onto baking sheet, making sure to turn horizontally any chocolate pieces that are poking up; it will make for a more attractive cookie. Sprinkle lightly with sea salt and bake until golden brown but still soft, 18 to 20 minutes. Transfer sheet to a wire rack for 10 minutes, then slip cookies onto another rack to cool a bit more. Repeat with remaining dough, or reserve dough, refrigerated, for baking remaining batches the next day. Eat warm, with a big napkin.

Maury Rubin's Grilled Chocolate Sandwich

Makes 6–8 sandwiches

Source: [39], 7 September 2003

8 oz	dark (bittersweet) chocolate
$\frac{1}{2}$ c	heavy cream
12–16	slices plain white bread
	a handful of chocolate
	$\frac{1}{2}$ long batons of chocolate or chocolate chips (about $\frac{1}{3}$ cup)
3–4 Tbsp	softened butter

1. Chop the chocolate fine and set aside in a medium bowl.
2. Heat the cream in a small saucepan until just boiling and pour over the chopped chocolate. Let stand 1 minute, then whisk until smooth. Refrigerate until just slightly solid, about 30 minutes.
3. Spread a layer of the chocolate mixture $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thick (approximately 2 to 3 tablespoons) on half the bread sides to within about $\frac{1}{4}$ inch of the edges. Press about 2 teaspoons of the chocolate chips (or 5 or 6 pieces of batons) into the center of each filling.
4. Spread a bit of softened butter over one side of the remaining slices. Buttered side up, place the slice over each chocolate-spread slice and press lightly around the edges to seal. Refrigerate for at least 15 minutes before putting on a grill or on a press. (If you are using a skillet instead, freeze the sandwich 15 minutes.)
5. Heat a grill or sandwich press (or a large griddle or skillet over medium-high heat), and add the sandwiches. Press on one side only for a minute or two (depending on the particular grill or press you're using) until the bread is nicely browned; the chocolate should be barely melted and not swimming out the side. If you are using a griddle or skillet, heat the sandwich first on the unbuttered side until lightly toasted, about 1 minute; turn the sandwich over and weight it down by placing a baking sheet or pan on top of the sandwich and placing a few soup cans on top. Toast for another minute, until golden. Cut in half and finish with a frilled toothpick.

Kouign Amann

Source: [21]

C'est une spécialité de Douarnenez, quoique certaines de sources parlent de Scaer, et un excellent gateau quand il est réussi.

600 g	farine
500 g	beurre
500 g	sucré
2-3 dl	d'eau
1 pincée	levure de bière
1 pincée	sel

1. Tamiser la farine, la mettre sur une planche, faire une fontaine, y mettre le sel, la levure, l'eau très froide.
2. Avec le bout des doigts, mélanger le tout rapidement. Envelopper le pàton d'un linge, laisser reposer cinq minutes.
3. Pendant ce temps, mettre le beurre dur dans le coin d'un torchon mouillé, replier le torchon et triturer le beurre pour lui donner une certaine souplesse.
4. Etaler la pâte, mettre le beurre, et le sucre au milieu, replier les bords comme une pâte feuilletée et plier deux fois en quatre.
5. Mettre aussitôt à four chaud (200 °C) une demi-heure.

Conseil

La température du beurre et de la pièce où se prépare le gateau est importante. Certains pâtisseries laissent la pâte reposer dans un torchon, avant de faire les tours. D'autres utilisent de l'eau très froide pour faire la pâte, d'autres encore de la levure diluée à l'eau tiède ou lavent le gâteau au lait avant la cuisson.

Ne lésinez pas sur le beurre, et une fois le gâteau cuit, arrosez le du beurre fondu qui n'a pas pénétré dans la pâte. Laisser refroidir dans le moule (en fer) de cuisson pour ne pas vous brûler avec le caramel.

Pour réchauffer le gâteau, faites chauffer une poêle, la retirer quand elle est chaude. Démouler le gâteau, le glisser dans la poêle. Couvrez, patientez 5 à 8 mn hors du feu. Régalez vous !

Macaron au Chocolat de M. Castellan

Fait environ 70 coques

2 heures

Source: [9]

Coques

150 g	sucré (pour la meringue)
60 ml	d'eau
60 g	blanc d'oeufs (environ 2 oeufs, pour la meringue)
150 g	sucré (pour le poudre d'amande)
110 g	poudre d'amande
30 g	poudre de cacao
60 g	blanc d'oeufs (environ 2 oeufs)

1. Meringue italienne: Mettre le sucre et l'eau dans une casserole et faire cuire jusqu'à 118 °C. Battre les blancs d'oeufs en neige, puis à vitesse moyenne verser le sucre cuit en mince filet sur les blancs déjà mousseux. Laisser refroidir toujours en battant. Quand la mousse prend corps, augmenter la vitesse au maximum pour serrer les blancs.
2. Pendant que le sucre cuit et puis que la meringue refroidisse, passer le sucre pour le poudre d'amande au blender afin de créer du sucre glace (donc sans amidon comme dans le sucre glace commercial). Ajouter le poudre d'amande pour avoir un poudre plus fin, mais attention à ne pas faire exprimer l'huile. Ajouter le cacao.
3. Ajouter le blanc d'oeufs non-battu au poudre. Puis peu à peu ajouter la meringue au poudre en macaronnant à la maryse. Le mélange doit briller et faire ruban. Une trace de doigt d'un centimetre doit refermer lentement.

4. Remplir une poche à douille (douille de 10 mm). Dresser sur une feuille de papier cuisson sur une plaque. Les claquer, puis les laisser croûter 30 minutes.
5. Préchauffer le four à 160 °C (ventilé) ou 180 °C (statique). Faire cuire les coques de 10–11 minutes.
6. A la sortie du four, renverser les coques sur des voilettes.

Ganache

100 g chocolat
90 g crème fleurette
25 g beurre

1. Hacher le chocolat. Chauffer la crème à 40 °C et verser sur le chocolat.
2. A 30 °C mettre le beurre pommade et l'incorporer.
3. Laisser refroidir. Remplir une poche à douille et dresser et marier les coques.
4. Laisser les macarons, maintenant complets, reposer un jour pour qu'ils prennent l'humidité.

Notes :

- Pour des macarons non-chocolat, c'est 150 g de poudre d'amande au lieu de 110 g poudre d'amande plus 30 g de poudre de cacao.
- Une ganache au fruit peut se faire en mélangeant 100 g de confiserie blanche, 10 g de beurre de cacao, 60 g de pulpe de fruit, et 30 g de beurre.

Sablée au chocolat

Serves 8

45 minutes (total 6 hours)

Source: [6]

125 g	beurre, ramolli à la température de la cuisine
1 pincée	sel
80 g	sucres glace
1	oeuf entier
200 g	farine

4. Etaler la pâte à l'aide d'un rouleau à pâtisserie. Installer soigneusement dans un moule à tarte de 20 cm de diamètre, très légèrement beurré. Bien insister pour que la pâte adhère aux parois du moule. Piquer une dizaine de fois avec une fourchette, remettre au réfrigérateur pendant deux heures.
5. Mettre à cuire dans un four préalablement chauffé 180 °C (thermostat 6, 355 °F) pendant 10 mn.

100 g	chocolat amer
60 g	beurre
1	oeuf entier
2	jaunes d'oeufs

3. Ajouter le chocolat et le beurre fondu. Mélanger délicatement pour ne pas faire retomber les oeufs montés. Garnir la tarte avec cet appareil. Cuire au four, toujours à 180 °C (thermostat 6, 355 °F) pendant 9 mn.
4. Sortir du four, saupoudrer de chocolat amer en poudre. Servir tiède.

3. Ajouter le beurre en pommade puis sabler la pâte à la main. Fouetter les jaunes d'oeufs et les ajouter.

La Pâte Sablée

50 g	sucré
100 g	beurre
1	ouef
	pincé de sel (facultatif)
150 g	farine

1. Dans un saladier, mélanger le beurre ramolli, le sucre et l'oeuf battu. (Tout sauf la farine et éventuellement le sel.)
2. Quand le mélange est accompli, ajouter petit à petit la farine et travailler légèrement la pâte.
3. Mettre en boule dans un linge humide et laisser reposer dans le bac à légumes du réfrigérateur pendant la préparation et cuisson (première phase) des pommes.

Une goutte d'extract d'orange dans la pâte fait une bonne surprise subtile dans la tarte.

Les pommes

1 kg	pommes (golden delicious, pink lady, ...)
125 g	beurre
125 g	sucré
	sucré et cannelle

1. Epeler les pommes et couper en quarts.
2. Dans un moule, mettre le beurre et le sucre et chauffer doucement.
3. Une fois que le beurre commence à blondir, mettre les pommes dans le moule “debouts”, bien serrées les unes contre les autres. Saupoudrer d’un mélange de sucre et de cannelle. (Il y en a qui utilise du sucre vanillé.)
4. Faire cuire doucement une demi-heure.
5. Vers la fin de la cuisson, faire la pâte. Préchauffer le four à 180 °C.
6. Les pommes doivent être tendre et légèrement caramélisées. Enlever le moule du feu, recouvrir de la pâte tel que le bord de la pâte ne déborde pas le moule, et mettre au four pendant 30 minutes.
7. Sortir du four quand la pâte est dorée. Renverser sur du papier cuisson lorsque la tarte soit tiède. Dans la mesure où du caramel liquide sort, le remettre en dessus de la tarte avec une spatule.

Servir tiède avec de la crème fouettée.

3. Former les truffes en les roulant entre les mains puis en les passant dans du cacao.

Elles conserveront une semaine au réfrigérateur.

Truffes

45 minutes

Source: [37]

200 g	chocolat noir
100 g	beurre
1	jaune d'oeuf
	du chocolat poudré

1. Faire chauffer le chocolat et le beurre juste pour que le chocolat fonde. Ajouter le jaune d'oeuf. Bien mélanger. Laisser refroidir un peu.
2. Former des boules. Rouler en chocolat poudré. Mettre au frais.

Variations de Jeff:

- Fouetter avant de laisser refroidir.
- Ajouter un peu de crème chantilly.

U Fiodone

Serves 6–12

20 minutes + 30 minutes cuisson

Source: [52]

5	oeufs
200 g	sucre
1 cuillère à soupe	farine
1	brocciu (ou une brousse), vers 450–500 g
1 zeste	citron (facultatif)
1 verre	eau de vie (facultatif)

1. Battre les oeufs et le sucre en omelette. Ajouter la farine et les autres ingrédients. Mélanger le tout et mettez au four à 180 °C jusqu'à ce que le gâteau soit doré et un couteau ressort sec, environ 30–35 minutes (ou: 175 °C pendant 45–50 minutes?).
2. Dégustez le tiède ou, à la tradition corse, froid.

Warm Soft Chocolate Cake

Makes 4

30 minutes plus 12 minutes to bake

Source: [55]

4 oz (113 g) butter (plus a little for buttering pans)
2 tsp flour (plus a little for dusting pans)
4 oz bittersweet chocolate
2 eggs
2 egg yolks
 $\frac{1}{4}$ c sugar

1. Butter and lightly flour 4 4-ounce molds, custard cups, ramekins, or similar containers. Tap out the excess flour. Preheat the oven to 450 °F.
2. Gently heat the butter and chocolate together until chocolate is almost completely melted.
3. Beat eggs, yolks, and sugar together with a whisk or electric beater until light and thick.
4. Beat melted chocolate and butter together. While it is still warm, pour into the egg mixture, then quickly beat in the flour until combined.
5. Divide batter among the molds. (At this point, you can refrigerate the desserts for several hours until ready to eat. Bring them back to room temperature before cooking.)
6. Bake molds on a tray for 12 minutes. The center will still be quite soft, but the sides will be set.

7. Invert each mold onto a plate and let sit for about 10 seconds. Unmold by lifting up one corner of the mold; the cake will fall out onto the plate. Serve immediately.

This is better with 2–4 oz extra chocolate mixed in—the result is smoother and creamier, less dry.
